
Contributors

Intaher M Ambe, BSC Hons, BCom Hons, MCom, is a Senior Lecturer in Supply Chain Management, Department of Business Management, University of South Africa. His teaching and research interests are in supply chain strategies, procurement and operations management.

Johanna A Badenhorst-Weiss, DCOM, is a Professor in Supply Chain Management, Department of Business Management, University of South Africa. Her research and teaching interests are supply chain strategies, sustainable supply chain, procurement both in the private and public sector.

Olga Balaeva, Ph.D., is Associate Professor, Management Department, National Research University "Higher School of Economics." Her teaching and research interests are in decision making and service management.

Benon C. Basheka, Ph.D., is the Head of Higher Degrees and Coordinator of the Ph.D. in Management and Administration program, Uganda Management Institute. His research interests are in comparative public procurement systems, Administrative theory, the theory of Public Procurement, Procurement Governance and administrative efficiency.

Mats A. Bergman, Ph.D., is a Professor, School of Social Sciences and Economics, Södertörn University. His research interests are in regulation, mergers and public procurement.

Paul Davis, Ph.D., is a College Lecturer and Director of Master in Strategic Procurement Program with research interest in strategic procurement the public sector.

Olga Demidova, Ph.D., is Associate Professor, Economics Department, National Research University "Higher School of Economics." Her teaching and research interests are in nonparametric methods of estimation, micro-econometrics, comparative economics.

David Escobar, MSc Student, Senior Research Analyst at Dirección ChileCompra, Chile. His research interests are in auctions and in the economics of public procurement.

Michael Essig, Ph.D., is Director of the Research Center for Law and Management of Public Procurement and holds the full chair for Material Management and Distribution at the Bundeswehr University, Munich. His research interests are in public procurement, supply management and performance-based logistics.

Ceri Evans, B.Sc., MCIPS, is a Research Lecturer, and Senior Supplier and Procurement Specialist at the Institute for Competition & Procurement Studies, Bangor University, Wales, U.K. He is the leader of the “Winning in Tendering” Tender Review Service and has a particular interest in SME interaction in public sector procurement.

Anthony Flynn, M.Sc., is a Researcher with research interest in the impact of SME-friendly policy on public procurement practice.

Andreas Glas, German MBA, is an Assistant Professor at the Research Center for Law and Management of Public Procurement, Bundeswehr University, Munich. His research interests are in public procurement, performance-based logistics and supply performance management.

Yonatan Gur, Ph.D. student, Graduate School of Business, Columbia University. His research interests are auctions and games of incomplete information.

Kathrin Hornbanger, Ph.D., MBL-HSG, is an Austrian Attorney at law, founder of Hornbanger Law firm, with several years of experience in the field of public procurement. Her research interests include public procurement law, and competition law.

Florian C. Kleemann, MSc, is a Researcher at the Research Center for Law and Management of Public Procurement of the Bundeswehr University, Munich. His research interests are in public procurement, performance-based logistics and supplier relationship management.

Sofia Lundberg, Ph.D., is an Associate Professor, Economics, Umeå School of Business and Economics, Umeå University. Her research interests are in public economics and public procurement auctions.

Emma McEvoy, M.A., is a Researcher, Business School, Dublin City University. Her research interest is in public procurement law.

David McKeivitt, Ph.D., is a Postdoctoral Researcher, Business School, Dublin City University. His research interest is in procurement competencies.

Györgyi Nyikos, Ph.D., is an Associate Professor at the Department of Finance Law, National University of Public Service. Her teaching and research interests are in public finance management, cohesion policy and public procurement.

Yuhua Qiao, Ph.D., is a Professor, Political Science Department, Missouri State University. Her research interests are in the areas of public budgeting, financial management and public procurement.

Rene G. Rendon, D.B.A., is an Associate Professor of Acquisition Management in the Graduate School of Business and Public Policy at the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, California. His teaching and research interests are in supply management, contract management, and project management.

Alessandra Romanelli, Dr., Ph.D. student, University of Vienna, is an Italian Attorney at law, specialized in public procurement, Hornbanger Law firm. Her research interests include public procurement law, and competition law.

Abby Semple, LL.B. (Dub), currently runs the consultancy Public Procurement Analysis, based in the UK. Her research interests include legal, environmental and social aspects of public procurement.

Joshua I. Schwartz, J.D., MA, is the E.K. Gubin Professor of Government Contracts Law, and is Co-Director of the Government Procurement Law LL.M. Program, both at The George Washington University Law School. His scholarship and teaching focus on public procurement law, on regulation, administrative law, and statutory interpretation, and on property law.

Christy D. Smith, Ph.D. candidate, Askew School of Public Administration at Florida State University, is a management and budget analyst, State of Florida government. Her teaching and research interests are in management, procurement, and sustainability.

Tünde Tátrai, Ph.D., is an Assistant Professor, Department of Logistics and Supply Chain Management, Corvinus University of Budapest. Her teaching and research interests are in public procurement and electronic procurement.

Conghu Wang, J.D., is an Associate Professor, Department of Public Administration, Renmin University. His research interest is in public procurement.

Gabriel Weintraub, Ph.D., is an Associate Professor, Columbia Business School. His research interests are in the economic analysis of problems in operations and management science, industrial organization, and auction design.

Andrei Yakovlev, Ph.D., is Director, Institute for Industrial and Market Studies, National Research University "Higher School of Economics." His research interests are in comparative studies in industrial policy, corporate governance, and state-business relations in transition economies.